Project Manager | AI enthusiast | Building with LLMs

Project Manager with 14.5+ years of experience driving outcomes in my domain. I have built strong functional expertise in the typical responsibilities of the role, including team management, stakeholder communication, and project delivery. Recently I've been excited about how AI and GenAI tools can augment my work. I've been taking online courses on RAG and vector databases, experimenting with LangChain and the OpenAI API for various projects, and exploring how LLMs can streamline workflows in my current function. Open to roles that complement my existing domain experience with emerging AI technologies — I think the most interesting opportunities lie at this intersection. Looking for positions where I can contribute both my functional expertise and grow my AI capabilities.
